Coffers empty, city tourism agency may get new boost

Proposal to raise cash for money-strapped promotional group by hiking city hotel tax Councilwoman says 0.3 percent increase isn't onerous

In a city long billed as a historic destination, Philadelphia's promotional funding has been hard-hit by budget battles.

Gov. Tom Corbett this year slashed state dollars to the Greater Philadelphia Marketing Tourism Corporation, the city's principal short-stay advertising vehicle, by more than 98 percent, and the city suspended its $2.5 million in annual financial support to the GPTMC three years ago, though it is expected to restore 10 percent this year.

The GPTMC is now chiefly funded by proceeds from the city's hotel tax, which Councilwoman Blondell Reynolds Brown has proposed increasing to help offset the losses in government dollars.

The GPTMC has so far been able to do more with less. As its budget continued to drop precipitously, overnight visits to the region grew 66 percent between its creation 1997 and 2011 – six times faster than the national average. Revenue from the tax increase — from 1.2 to 1.5 percent — would be split between the GPTMC and Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau.

$6.6M State funding allocated to the GPTMC in 2007

$128.7K State funding given to the GPTMC this fiscal year, a decrease of more than 98 percent

$8.2M Money expected to be generated this year for the GPTMC by the city's hotel tax

$2M Extra that would be generated annually for the GPTMC and the Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau by raising the city hotel tax

.50 Average cash increase added to the price of each overnight stay at Philadelphia hotels

▶ Tourists, here snapping the clothespin landmark, have stayed overnight in Philadelphia 66 percent more often since 1997.

Support from hotel lobby

The Greater Philadelphia Hotel Association, the city's largest industry lobbying group, supports the measure.

"We're trying to be proactive and we support our two marketing agencies," Executive Director Ed Grose said. "We need to make sure that they have the financial resources to continue to market Philadelphia. They've both lost a lot of money over the past few years in grants from the state, and we need to help them find other forms of funding."

He said that he's been seeing many other cities raise hotel tax rates to help creatively fund their tourism advertising, but at about 50 cents per overnight stay, he doesn't see the financial impact harming Philly's lodging industry. However, according to Grose, the solution is not all-encompassing.

"With both agencies, this will help, but they'll still need to find other sources of funding to market our city."

'Land grab' passed

City Council on Thursday passed contentious legislation enabling the city to seize 17 Point Breeze properties and set them aside for affordable housing. The bill raised an uproar, especially among developers who claimed they had plans for the now vacant parcels of land. Blog posts and online petitions – including one on Change.org that had more than 950 signatures as of Thursday — denounced the move as a "land grab."

▶ Fanfare for the 76ers is nearly what isn't was when Bynum announced his arrival Aug. 14 at the National Constitution Center.

Bynum gets action in different court

Andrew Bynum has been a nonentity on the court for the Sixers. On the other hand, Bynum's off-the-court antics have been nothing short of legendary.

Last week, it was revealed that he reinjured a balky knee in a leisurely bowling match in Philadelphia. Before that, his new hairstyle was being debated on sports blogs throughout the land, as well as on ESPN's version of the "Today" show: "First Take."

Now, according to gossip website TMZ on Thursday, Bynum is in the midst of a court battle with his former neighbors in Bynum's quiet California suburb of Los Angeles. After he sued them for being bad neighbors, they countersued him, TMZ reported.

Quoted

"Andrew Bynum is a great basketball player and a terrible neighbor who presumes that being an NBA All-Star entitles him to party like a rock star in the otherwise quiet Westchester neighborhood where he lives."

THE BECKETTS, IN A COUNTERSUIT REPORTEDLY FILED JULY 11

The Sixers center claims in the lawsuit that he has been constantly harassed because the couple objects to "his profession, his race, his friends, his cars and his taste in music."

Well, two can play at that game — as long as it's not basketball.

The neighbors, Raymond and Cindy Beckett, are countersuing on the grounds that Bynum is a terrible neighbor himself. According to TMZ, they claim that Bynum has pulled guns on them, wafted marijuana smoke in their faces, let his dogs run loose, raced luxury cars at dangerous speeds and blasted video games at "window-shaking volumes."

Montco doc charged in alleged pill mill

MONTGOMERY COUNTY. A Horsham doctor at the center of an alleged pill mill has now been charged in the overdose death of one of his suspected co-conspirators.

Federal prosecutors have accused Dr. Norman Werther, 71, of conspiring with six separate groups of drug dealers to illegally distribute prescription painkillers from February 2009 until August 2011.

In new charges announced Thursday, prosecutors said Werther prescribed 180 pills containing oxycodone to one co-conspirator, resulting in the co-conspirator's death.

In August 2011, prosecutors charged Werther and 51 co-defendants in connection with the illegal distribution. Nine new defendants were charged Thursday.

If convicted of all charges, Werther faces at least 20 years in prison and possibly life. METRO/SDL

Missing woman in Delco suddenly reappears

DELAWARE COUNTY. A Tinicum woman who was reported missing last week returned home safely Thursday, authorities said.

Debra Miller, 38, called police and her father when she came back to the area, the Delaware County Daily Times reported. Miller told authorities she needed to get away and hopped on a Greyhound bus to Orlando, where she just walked around for about a week.

Miller's family reported her missing last week. METRO/SDL

WASHINGTON LUNCH PALES

Opinion

TOM FOREMAN
POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT FOR CNN

I've been through some awkward lunches. A midday rendezvous at Arby's with a bitter ex-girlfriend comes to mind, and there was the time I took a colleague to the Golden Corral only to find out he was vegan. Still, it's hard to imagine a repast more painful than that sit-down at the White House this week between President Obama and his recent rival, Mitt Romney. Since cameras were not permitted, I've spent much of the afternoon imagining the conversation.

Mitt, I'd glad you came," says the president, with a broad smile and an outstretched hand. "The race was long and difficult, but we need to show that even fierce rivals can put aside their differences."

"I agree, Mr. President. I only wish you'd let me host, because my house is bigger."

"Which one?"

"All of them!"

"Ha! Good one, Mitt."

I can well conjure up some other comments: "Yeah, well how about I pick up 47 percent of the tab?" and "How would you know? You weren't even born here!" and "Is that a dog on top of your car?"

CNN=POLITICS

Quoted

"They don't have to back down from a fight, but neither do they have to tip over the table and break the china at every cross word."
TOM FOREMAN

My reporter's cynicism tells me the lunch was probably all that and more, despite the cheery press release about a spirit of cooperation and Southwestern chicken salad. But my citizen's desperate need for optimism makes me hope it was not. I want to believe that in fact somehow, someday, some way the battling factions in our government can start getting along again. They don't have to abandon their principles, but they don't need to stab each other with the cutlery over their differences either. They don't have to back down from a fight, but neither do they have to tip over the table and break the china at every cross word.

So for the moment, I'm going to give them the benefit of the doubt. I'll believe both sides when they say it was a cordial meeting, a frank exchange of ideas and, in the spirit of cooperation, there was no crow on the menu.

Coming up

'Killing Them Softly'
Friday — Brad Pitt stars in this dark underworld thriller about a pair of small-time crooks that rob a mobster card game. Soon an enforcer (Pitt) is sent in to make sure that debts are properly paid.

'Hyde Park on Hudson'
Dec. 7 (limited) — Bill Murray, Laura Linney and Olivia Williams star in this depiction of the affair between FDR and his distant cousin, Margaret Stuckley, during the landmark visit of the first reigning British royals on American soil.

Our Winter Movie Guide opens with the Oscar season's most promising offerings that you'll be hearing about well into 2013 ◐ Those most likely to score a golden statuette are all here

THE CONTENDERS

1 'Amour'
Dec. 19 (limited)
The winner of the 2012 Palme d'Or at the Cannes Film Festival has yet to leave anything but a stirring impression on those who have seen it. Austrian filmmaker Michael Haneke's depiction of an elderly couple facing their mortality guarantees a beautifully heart-rending experience.

2 'Zero Dark Thirty'
Dec. 19 (limited)
After her Oscar win for 2008's "The Hurt Locker," Kathryn Bigelow presents another military drama in the Middle East, this time following the hunt and execution of Osama Bin Laden.

3 'The Impossible'
Dec. 21 (limited)
Naomi Watts and Ewan McGregor star in the true story of one family's struggle to survive the tsunami that struck the coast of Thailand in 2004.

4 'Not Fade Away'
Dec. 21 (limited)
The mastermind behind "The Sopranos," David Chase, writes and directs this nostalgic drama about a fledgling rock band trying to make it big in 1960s New Jersey. And yes, James Gandolfini (formerly known as Tony Soprano) does make an appearance.

5 'On the Road'
Dec. 21 (limited)
This long-awaited adaptation of Jack Kerouac's beloved beatnik novel stars Garrett Hedlund, Kirsten Dunst and of course a topless-at-one-point Kristen Stewart as a bunch of roustabout rebels in the late '50s, trying to discover what it means to be free.

▶ Bilbo Baggins (Martin Freeman, center) is confronted by some cranky dwarves.

'The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey'
Dec. 14 — The first installment of Peter Jackson's latest Tolkien trilogy is sure to pick up at least a few technical awards for its daring method of shooting film at twice the speed of regular film (48 frames per second, as opposed to the traditional 24).

6 'Django Unchained'
Dec. 25
Vigilante justice is the cornerstone of any Quentin Tarantino film, and his 2012 offering promises to deliver the obligatory amount of gratuitous bloodshed. Jamie Foxx plays a freed slave who is assisted in revenge by his mentor, played by Christoph Waltz.

7 'Les Miserables'
Dec. 25
Some Oscar wins are practically in the hands of director Tom Hooper already for his adaptation of the Broadway musical, originally penned as a novel by Victor Hugo. By recording the live singing performances of stars Russell Crowe, Hugh Jackman, Anne Hathaway and others, the film stands to break new ground for musical adaptations that eschew the cheese factor.

8 'Promised Land'
Dec. 28 (limited)
Matt Damon, Frances McDormand, John Krasinski and Rosemarie DeWitt star in this film about a natural gas company salesman who experiences a conflict of interest when arriving in a small town that is the next target for prospecting.

Winter releases

The best of the rest

'The Collection'
Nov. 30 — As a sequel to "The Collector," this film's psychopathic killer's only survivor is hired to rescue a young woman who is set to become the latest member of the collection.

'Playing for Keeps'
Dec. 7 — Gerard Butler seems to be the male Katherine Heigl of romantic comedies. Does it matter that "The Bounty Hunter" was terrible? Not to Butler fans. Here he stars as an ex-soccer player who attempts to put his life back together with the help of an old flame.

'The Guilt Trip'
Dec. 19 — This road trip movie starring Seth Rogen and Barbra Streisand aims to plumb the treasure trove of jokes to be made about a mother and son making a road trip across the country.

'This is 40'
Dec. 21 — As the "sort of sequel" to 2007's "Knocked Up," this Judd Apatow film follows committed couple Debbie and Pete (Leslie Mann and Paul Rudd) as they struggle with aging and each other.

'Quartet'
Jan. 11 (limited) — Dustin Hoffman directs this comedy about a British retirement home for opera singers and the longtime resident who reunites with a lost love. Pretty much, it's "Best Exotic Marigold Quartet."

'Gangster Squad'
Jan. 11— If Ryan Gosling and Emma Stone aren't enough to get you interested, this film looks set to be one of the best winter releases. The action flick follows the LAPD's struggle with the East Coast Mafia during the '40s and '50s.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES

'Jack Reacher'

Dec. 21 — In this adaptation of the Lee Child crime series, Tom Cruise plays a ex-military homicide investigator who steps in to solve a case in which a trained sniper is accused of killing five random innocents.

SUZANNE HANOVER

'This is 40'

Dec. 21 — As the "sort of sequel" to 2007's "Knocked Up," this Judd Apatow film follows committed couple Debbie and Pete (Leslie Mann and Paul Rudd) as they struggle with aging and each other.

'Movie 43'
Jan. 25 — Like those monster ensemble rom-coms like "Valentine's Day" and "New Year's Eve," this comedy packs in a load of stars but promises to be a least a little bit more enjoyable than the aforementioned cheesefests.

'Hansel and Gretel Witch Hunters'
Jan. 25 — The name pretty much sums it up — a modern take on the classic fairy tale in which we see Hansel and Gretel on a pursuit for vengeance against the witches who tortured them as children.

Making it up

New exhibit at the Brandywine celebrates history of pop-up books

If you go

'Pop-Up! Illustration in 3D'
Through Jan. 6
Brandywine River Museum
US Route 1, Chadds Ford
$6-$12, 610-388-2700, www.brandywinemuseum.org

More than half a century before movie-goers were handed their first pair of cardboard glasses, pop-up books brought two-dimensional illustrations to 3-D life. For their holiday exhibition this year, the Brandywine River Museum explores more than 100 years of the medium's history in "Pop-Up! Illustration in 3D."

For curator Christine Podmaniczky, the major appeal of pop-up books is in the element of surprise. "You almost have to gasp when you open the book and this construction unfolds before you," she says. "You get that sense of awe and wonder."

The exhibition begins in the late 19th century with some early examples of the form and continues with mid-century examples from England and America. The 1960s brought a renaissance in pop-ups, which began with innovative new books published in Czechoslovakia that inspired a new generation of American creators. Modern examples include Samita's "The Odyssey," which retells Homer's classic tale through a combination of pop-up and graphic novel in a book targeted at adults rather than children.

The classic fairy tale gets a pop-up update in "Beauty & the Beast" by illustrator and paper engineer Robert Sabuda.

Renowned illustrators such as Edward Gorey, Maurice Sendak and Tomie de Paola are represented in the show, which also features original artwork and mock-ups by modern pop-up creators Chuck Fischer and Robert Sabuda. "Each tiny piece is created individually and put together by hand," Podmaniczky says, "from the earliest pop-up books to today's."

TV watch list

▶ Rick Grimes (Andrew Lincoln) readies to meet the Governor on "The Walking Dead."

'The Walking Dead'

DRAMA. Rick and the prison crew finally face off with the Governor and the Woodbury survivors, just in case the major character deaths already seen this season haven't provided enough shock value for you. Midseason finale, Sunday, 9 p.m., AMC

'Finding Mrs. Claus'

MOVIE. Mira Sorvino plays Mrs. Claus, who feels neglected by her workaholic husband. C'mon Kris Kringle — the lady won an Oscar, give her some love! Sunday, 9 p.m., Lifetime

'Boardwalk Empire'

DRAMA. If this season finale's "Noooo!" death is Nucky in his battle for the control of Atlantic City with Gyp Rosetti, we're walking away from this series — until next season, at least. Season finale, Sunday, 9 p.m., HBO AMBER RAY

▶ Carman Luntzel will miss her customers but says she "decided to take the opportunity to go on and try something different with my life."

PHOTOS: RICARD LARMA/METRO

The end of a legendary era

After 22 years in business, Carman's Country Kitchen is closing in two short weeks ◐ Owner, chef and Philadelphia treasure Carman Luntzel on what's next

Hot chef

For the past 22 years, Carman's Country Kitchen has been an offbeat South Philly staple. The itty-bitty corner brunch spot — adorned with various knick-knacks and coffee mugs you wouldn't want your mom to see — is known not only for its food but also for the woman in the back cooking it. Carman Luntzel is the charming owner responsible for it all, and if you haven't had the fortune of sitting down at her table, you'll need to make room in your schedule immediately: This country kitchen is, we're sad to report, due to close its doors Dec. 16.

▶ You've only got until Dec. 16 to catch brunch — and check out the tchotchkes — at Carman's Country Kitchen.

If you go

Carman's Country Kitchen (1301 S. 11th St.) is open through Sunday, Dec. 16.

Say it ain't so! Why did you decide to close?
I didn't. My landlord decided to take it over himself and open a pizza shop. He sent me a letter about the building and I called him right away. Finally, he told me that he didn't want to rent the place anymore, he wanted it for himself. I thought it over and decided to take the opportunity to go on and try something different with my life.

What's that going to be?
I'm moving to the corner of North and South Carolina. It's got a great backyard for my animals and my grandkids who live nearby. By early next year, I want to start as a private chef, making meals for people in their houses and on their boats. I'll do that for a year or two.

Then what?
Hopefully I can go work in other countries. I love to travel — I shop and cook wherever I go. You have to be kind of out there and comfortable with dealing with people.

What will you miss most about Philly and your restaurant?
My customers. They're outspoken, educated and opinionated people. But I'll be just one exit out of Charlotte and with plenty of room if they want to visit.

Will you be going out with a bang on the last day?
Nope, just steady as she goes and keep the boat straight.

Cocktail of the week

Smashing Pumpkin

Bid farewell to November with one last pumpkin-y drink.

- 1 oz. simple syrup
- 1 oz. lemon juice
- 3 oz. cinnamon-infused pumpkin vodka (instructions below)
- 2 oz. orange juice
- Orange twist garnish

Instructions: Make the cinnamon/pumpkin vodka: Add cinnamon sticks to a pumpkin-flavored vodka and seal in an airtight jar. Shake periodically for a few days to achieve desired infusion. Strain the vodka.

To make the cocktail, build ingredients in a glass cocktail shaker with ice. Shake well and strain into a chilled cocktail glass. Garnish with an orange twist.

Seeing the light (and the dark) with Tanlines

TIM MOSENFELDER/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Cohen, left, and Emm bring the jams to Union Transfer on Saturday. For more info, visit www.utphilly.com

When doing an Internet search for music by the electronic act Tanlines, it's inevitable that a much more popular release by a musician who has nothing to do with the Brooklyn-based duo will pop up.

"Oh, you mean Luke Bryan? 'Tailgates & Tanlines'?" asks Jesse Cohen. It's almost a novelty to hear a guy who plays keyboards, drums and bass for a dance group to name-check a country superstar. But Cohen recently became quite familiar with the album that shares a word with his band's name.

"We did a tour of the South two weeks ago, which we had never done, and I made sure to bring that, just to finally listen to it, because it's a huge album and it sold like over a million copies this year, so it's always been all over my Google Alerts," he elaborates.

Cohen says while Luke Bryan's brand of baseball-hat country is not exactly his favorite type of music, he does appreciate the tunes for what they are.

In much of the conversation, Cohen comes across as a person who strives for positivity but is honest about the negatives. This ethos has a lot in common with Tanlines' debut, "Mixed Emotions," which came out this past spring. The music is upbeat, but there's conflict within the lyrics and rhythms.

"We wanted to write an album that's an honest reflection of who we are as two individuals," says Cohen of himself and singer/guitarist Eric Emm. "It's that mix of light and dark, happy and sad, and upbeat and melancholic at the same time."

Horoscope

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Success is possible in a joint endeavor if you and the other party lean on each other for support.
♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. You might appear to not quite know what you want or where you're going — but in reality, you'll simply be searching for someone with a unique idea for you to get hold of.
♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Focus on anything you can do that could benefit group endeavors. Some of your successes are to come from working on humanitarian pursuits.
♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. A winning attitude will be reflected in all your pursuits, endeavors and relationships. Conversely, a pessimistic frame of mind will cloud your life.
♈ Aries March 21-April 19. You're well equipped to handle changes or any unexpected adjustments, even those you had nothing to do with. You won't mind.
♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Don't hesitate to adjust an agreement that isn't benefiting as many people as you thought it would. You can accomplish your aims with a few minor tweaks.
♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. You're in an excellent cycle, in which the promised rewards are likely to turn out to be much larger than anyone thought.
♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. When you choose to use it, your ability to get along with everybody is one of your greatest assets. It isn't likely you'll be bored with anyone's company during this present cycle.
♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. You're an especially strong finisher, so give as much attention as possible to an important matter that you're anxious to conclude. You should make things turn out the way you want.
♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. There is a strong possibility that you could meet someone new with whom you'll have much in common. It'll grow stronger with time.
♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. An opportunity to enhance your material security could drop in your lap, but you must be smart enough to spot it.
♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. You might have to handle a difficult assignment similar to one that you previously managed quite well. Don't be afraid to employ tactics that worked well in the past.

‘Spoiler’ Birds have plenty left to play for in final weeks

Coaches looking to upset playoff hopefuls ◗ Pride, jobs on line in 2013 ◗ Eagles prep for rival Cowboys

The Eagles have five games left in this lost season. A campaign that started with talk of Super Bowls and dynasties has been whittled down to just five meaningless games.

It’s meaningless to the average fan. But some in the organization see it a different way. The Eagles have a chance to crush dreams down the stretch, playing against opponents (Cowboys, Buccaneers, Bengals, Redskins, Giants) jockeying for postseason positions.

“Now, we certainly are in a spoiler-type role here, and that can be very rewarding,” offensive coordinator Marty Mornhinweg said. “So, we have discussed that and it’s very rewarding that way.”

ON TV SUNDAY

Eagles at Cowboys, 8:20 p.m. (NBC)

There are other things at play here, too. Veterans insist they are playing for pride. After all, it’s no fun being the league’s laughingstock.

“I play every day for my pride,” said DeMeco Ryans. “It’s one thing, you play for pride — that’s big for me.”

Some guys, whether they want to admit it or not, are playing for their jobs. A new coaching staff is inevitable in 2013, meaning every name on the roster — and every play — is being evaluated from here on out. In other words, jobs are on the line.

“I’m not worried about that,” safety Kurt Coleman said. “Regardless if Andy is still here [or] if he’s not here, I get traded, I got to put out good film. I got to be able to play to the best of my ability, and I’m trying to get this team in a position to end on a good note.”

Even so, that doesn’t mean Coleman is going to change his approach or preparation. He doesn’t need to.

“Continue to play hard, continue to study my ass off every week and try and get these guys in the best position to succeed,” he said.

Vick fails head test

Eagles QB Mike Vick failed an imPACT test and couldn’t be cleared for practice. Nick Foles will start Sunday, as expected.

Head athletic trainer Rick Burkholder was scheduled to release an update on Vick and concussed running back LeSean McCoy on Friday.

Vick’s condition reportedly has worsened, according to FOX’s Howard Eskin. METRO

MOST WONDERFUL TIME OF THE YEAR

Fantasy sports

ADAM LEVITAN
ALEVITAN@METRO.US

At long last, the pot of gold at the end of the fantasy rainbow is in sight. The playoffs are coming, friends.

With most leagues set to enter the single-elimination phase of their season in Week 14, we need to get ready. There's no point to qualify for the playoffs and then get bounced in the first round. Ask Matt Ryan and the Falcons how that feels.

Special teams are special

The easiest place to ensure you have good matchups is at defense and kicker. Waste a bench spot now on the Browns (vs. Chiefs Week 14), Seahawks (vs. Cardinals) or Jaguars (vs. Jets). Don't get stuck with the Texans against the Patriots just because you've been riding them all year. At kicker, the formula is simple. We want a guy in a high-scoring offense playing in good weather, preferably at home. Greg "Legatron" Zuerlein has a cool nickname, but he's in Buffalo Week 14. Avoid.

Handcuffing elsewhere

We've talked plenty about how important running-back handcuffs are. But at this point in the season, we can handcuff other positions. If Julio Jones or Roddy White went down, Harry Douglas would be a solid play. Wes Welker owners should have Julian Edelman on their bench. Matthew Stafford owners won't do much better than Shaun Hill as a backup. Don't let injury ruin your dreams.

Time shares

We need to have backup plans if our runners are about to find themselves in time shares. Marcel Reece owners should be shaking in their boots. Felix Jones' owners have sucked all they can out of him as DeMarco Murray nears a return. Matt Forte's ankle woes figure to expand Michael Bush's role. Arian Foster could be rested some in Week 16 or 17 if the 10-1 Texans lock up the No. 1 seed.

NFL news

No thanks

Darren McFadden (foot) is practicing again and appears on track to play Sunday. Thanks for nothing, buddy. Not only did he ruin seasons of his owners, but now he's going to ruin the season of owners that shrewdly picked up Marcel Reece. Look for them to share work Sunday, leaving neither one as a reliable option in Oakland.

NBA impressions

GETTY IMAGES

Sell high: Dump these guys before they cool off.

1. Tim Duncan, PF, SAS — At age 36, he hasn't missed a game and is above his career averages in shooting percentages/blocks. There's no way this lasts.
2. O.J. Mayo, SG, DAL — Shots and touches won't be as plentiful once Dirk Nowtizki (knee) returns. Mayo's absurd 51.2 3-point shooting will tail off.
3. Jamal Crawford, SG, LAC — Chauncey Billups is back and starting at shooting guard, squeezing minutes across the board. Crawford is now a complementary piece.

▶ Stash Harry Douglas, the Falcons receiver, could be fantasy gold if something happens to Julio Jones or Rodd White.

GETTY IMAGES

Ryan Broyles

WR, Lions
Titus Young is in the doghouse and isn't getting out. The offense runs smoother with more reliable Broyles across from Megatron.

Bryce Brown

RB, Eagles
LeSean McCoy isn't close to getting cleared from his concussion — and the Eagles are dead. Brown just might hit the hole harder anyway.
